"I have not a word to say for publication" said Mr. Elder to THE SUN reporter. "I have simply come here to make personal vations and meditate. That is all."

Later on Mr. Elder walked into the deserted betting ring. He approached the office where the "advance information" is distributed by George H. Smith, one of

John G. Cavanagh's men.

"How are you, Mr. Smith?" he said. "Is Mr. Cavanagh here?" "He'll be here in a minute," was the reply, and just then the former manager of the betting ring appeared.

"I am glad to know you, Mr. Cavanagh," said the Assistant District Attorney with a smile as they shook hands. "I see a Personal Liberty League sign up there! Are

"I am, sir," said Cavanagh. "Won't you have membership button and an application blank?" "I thank you; I will." And Mr. Elder put both in his pocket as he walked away. Before leaving, however, Mr. Elder looked over Cavanagh's books. Former Assemblyman Ullman then produced an "advance information" slip on the second race and showed Mr. Elder to what use these slips were put. The Assistant District Attorney listened attentively while a curious crowd surrounded him. He showed much interest in the running of the race won by Brother Jonathan and also in the enthusiasm of the crowd, nar also in the enthusiasm of the crowd, narticularly the women. A trip to the paddock followed, and Mr. Elder inpected the jockey's room, the stables and the secretary's office, where his attention was attracted by the throwing of dies to determine the post positions of the riders.

"What is that for?" he asked John Boden, the secretary of the track. "That looks to be an important point to me."

Boden explained that the dice were used simply to give horses owned by millionaires and for turfmen an equal chance at the barrier. Mr. Elder nodded his head as Boden explained. A short stay at the clubnouse ended the visit and then Mr. Elder posed in his automobile for several photographers before he rode away. It was said afterwards that Mr. Elder had found conditions not so bad as they had been conditions not so bad as they had been represented to him.

Meanwhile sheriff's deputies were busy

Meanwhile sheriff's deputies were busy serving subposas upon persons who will appear before the Grand Jury to-morrow morning. Those who were served were Sol Lichtenstein, Orlando Jones, Sam Schaen, Joseph Vendig and A. J. Levy, all well known professional layers; also Capt. Du Hain of the Pinkerton service, Capt. J. W. Jackson, employed in the secretarics. J. W. Jackson, employed in the secretary's office, and John Adler, for many years the nouncer in the betting ring.

Thirty plain clothes detectives under the command of Lieut. Langan were on duty at the track again, together with forty uniformed policemen under Inspector at the track again, together with forty uniformed policemen under Inspector O'Brien and Capts. Formosa and Kelly. Ten men were quietly arrested charged with violating the provisions of the new betting law and all of them were taken from the field enclosure. Among those taken into custody were Lester Lemon, William Kennedy, Harry Ramsdell, Oscar Marke, Harry Fleischmann, Henry Meyers and John King. As detectives were leading King, an old man, toward the gate he was seized with an attack of heart failure and fell to the ground. The sleuths got a drink of heardy feet him and after he was well fell to the ground. The sleuting got a drink of brandy for him and after he was well enough to proceed he followed the other prisoners to Brooklyn police headquarters, where all were admitted to bail in the sum of $500 each.

ALGEBRA NO CRIME,

Even if Absorbed Student Did Murmur "Our Maggle-Sixth Race."

A number of algebraic signs said to denote bets on the races at Brighton Beach were not sufficient to hold an alleged bookmaker, Michael Schroeder of 618 Sixth avenue, in Jefferson Market court yesterday. Detectives Shea, Ryan and Shepard of the Tenderloin arrested Schroeder on Friday in front of a bulletin board in Herald "What evidence have you?" asked the Court.

"We heard Schroeder repeat 'Our Maggie' after another man, adding 'the sixth race.' Then he took a dollar from the man race.' Then he took a dollar from this card. race. Then he took a dollar from the man and made a memorandum on this card. He also had newspaper dope sheets "
The Court looked at the card and said:
"This is no evidence. There are a number of figures here and several x's and other signs such as a student in algebra might use. Nothing to show they refer to horses." "No," said Shepard, "that's where they've got us beat."

"Of course they've got you beat. Discharged."

Alleged Bookmaker Held.

Charles B. Smith of 30 Vernon avenue, who was arrested on Friday on a charge of making a handbook on the races, was held yesterday by Magistrate Connolly in held yesterday by Magistrate Connolly in $1,000 bail for examination on July 24. De-tectives Randand Maude, who made the arrest, say they saw an old man hand a dollar bill to Smith and a piece of paper on which was written "Cornoob to win." The transaction is alleged to have taken place at the Long Island Reilroad Ferryhouse.

RELAY RACERS IN OHIO. Message Borne by T. M. C. A. Runners Reached Bellevue at 9:18 P. M.

A. A. Jamleson, division manager of the Y. M. C. The shots took effect in Mr. Chapman's breast and neck, piercing the heart He was dead when his son. Granville Chapman, who was in the store at the time, reached his side.

The cause of the shooting is a mystery but several theories are advanced. A month ago an enemy of Chapman set fire to his flour and planing mills and burned them down, and it is said at Slanesville that the persons responsible for the burning are identical with those involved in the murder. The authorities say that more than one person is implicated in Chapman's murder, which they say is the result of a long

RECEIVER FOR BROKERAGE FIRM Disagreement of Partners Causes Suspension of Big Detroit Concern.

DETROIT, Mich., July 18.-Cameron Currie t Co., brokers with affiliations with the New York Stock Exchange, the New York Produce Exchange, the Boston Stock Exchange, the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Stock Exchange, went into the hands of a Stock Exchange, went into the hands of a receiver this morning, with liabilities estimated around $1,000,000. The failure is in the nature of a partnership disagreement between Mr. Currie and his partner, Lewis H. Case, and the climax came when Mr. Currie filed a bill in the Wayne Circuit Court last night asking for a dissolution of the business relations. According to the bill the inability of Mr. Case to obtain enough money to cover the purchase of stocks and bonds entangled the firm to the extent of $1,045,000.

A solution of the business entanglement has been under discussion for several days, and it was finally decided that receivership proceedings would be the easiest way to collect a number of heavy accounts from

VON HELDEN NOT SENTENCED. So First Wife of Thrice Married

Man May Get a Divorce. MOUNT VERNON, July 18 .- Owing to the discovery that he has a third wife, Johann Raul von Helden, the bogus German nobleman who was convicted of bigamy in the County Court, was not sentenced to-day, ludge Platt putting the case over until July 27 to give his first wife, who was Miss Loretta B. O'Neil of Jersey City, an opportunity to get a divorce from him so he can remarry his second wife, Gertrude Caroline remarry his second wife, Gertrude Caroline Lewis of New Rochelle and legitimize her four children. Wife No. 3, Emily Brambach, daughter of a plano manufacturer, is in Caliornia.

Until the first wife read of the arrest and went to White Plains on Friday it was generally supposed that the Count had married only two women. Miss O'Neil to-day produced a wedding certificate showing that she was married to Von Helden in St. Andrew's Church, New York, in in St. Andrew's Church, New York 1900. Her lawyer said that she had no fur-ther love for him and was willing to apply at once for a divorce so that he could re-marry her who was Miss Lewis. The prisoner said that he was willing to do that.

After the hearing Miss O'Neil went to the District Attorney's office, where she met Miss Lewis and her children. Wife No. 1 and wife No. 2 talked things over for a while and compared notes and when they seemed to be friends. separated they seemed to be friends.

MADDEN FREED FROM ALIMONY.

Need Not Pay More to Louis V. Bell's Wife -Will Continue Suit.

CINCINNATI, July 18 .- John E. Madden's former wife, who is now Mrs. L. V. Bell. lost her fight to-day for $1,800 alimony which was allowed her by the Common Pleas Court when she and Madden were divorced. The Circuit Court has reversed the lower court and holds that since Mrs. Madden has remarried she no longer needs maintenance from her former husband. Her attorneys held that the $1,800 a year should be paid her as her share in the profits of Madden's stock farm, which, they declare, she helped develop. The Circuit Court decided that she lost all claim on her husband's estate w en she married L. V.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 18.—In an interview John E. Madden said he would still prosecute L. V. Bell for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. Madden' suit is for $100,000 against Bell. When asked if he would prosecute the suit for divorce brought in the Circuit Court here Madden said: "I certainly will ask for a divorce immediately. I do it for protection to arnsworth Tells the Reporters All About It—Bryan Is Greatly Annoyed but Doesn't Deny—Talks to Stir Hatred of Trusts Among School Teachers.

Lincoln, July 18.-Mr. Bryan began the play of practical politics to-day. He immoned to Fairview Don C. Farnsworth, a Chicago banker who has a weakness for the politic game, and asked him to undertake the task of organizing the negroes of the North against Taft and for the Democratic ticket.

Farnsworth was recommended by a numper of Democrats as an organizer who can organize and who has peculiar facilities for reaching the negro voters. He came here direct from a conference in the West with James of Kentucky, Clayton and Heflin of Alabama and other leaders, who are his sponsors. Farnsworth admitted after the interview that he had been asked to take up the work, and he said that he believed from the knowledge he had of the sentiment entertained the negroes of the middle West toward the Republican ticket that they will be a big factor in determining Roosevelt's successor. Farnsworth was the sponsor for the Towne oom at Denver. He and his wife took uncheon with the Bryans. When Mr Bryan was informed of what Farnsworth had told the newspaper men he expressed great surprise that anything had een said of the object of his visit., declaring he had no authority to make such a statement. He did not however deny it. "That is work that belongs to the com mittee which is yet to be elected," he said. I do not understand how I could take up the business of campaign management in that way.

Two hundred students of a normal college at Fremont marched in s body to Fairview this afternoon from the Lincoln station. It was a mixed company of men and girls, and as they passed Bryan each and girls, and as they passed Bryan each dropped a flower at his feet. Mr. Bryan made a fifteen minute speech. He said he had not been officially notified of his nomination, but certain things that have been said have raised a suspicion in his mind that he is the candidate.

He said that the divine law of reward is that each person shall enjoy in proportion as that person by energy and industry and intelligence contributes to the world. Governments should as nearly as possible follow this law. To correct the conditions that now exist, where these rewards are inequitably distributed, is the promise made in the Denver platform. He paid the teaching profession a high compliment, and asked the members to compare their rewards with those exacted by the trusts for the service they perform.

for the service they perform.

Mr. Bryar said the Democratic party is not expected to bring the millennium, but it does purpose to secure a better adjustment of rewards to service by restoring the Government to the aucient doctrines and making it more responsive to the will and making it more responsive to the will and making it more responsive to the win of the people.

"Our aim," he said, "is to adjust these rewards in such a way that every one will feel that there is something to strive for. The best way is to assure them that that reward will be proportionate to their endeavor. Along this way lies national greatness. I have wondered why the teachers in this country would go, year after year, and vote to turn the nation over to exploitation by great trusts and monopolies when in this country would go, year after year, and vote to turn the nation over to exploitation by great trusts and monopolies when they themselves are so poorly paid for the great and important work they are doing.

"While I am convinced that our platform does present the best solution of public questions now possible and that its purpose is more equitable than the purpose expressed in the Republican platform, I am much more anxious that each voter shail do what his conscience and judgment diotate is right than that he shall do what I think to be right, to the end that when the election is over each will feel he has done his duty to his country and given it the best he has."

The Democratio State committee was called to-day to meet here next Wednesday afternoon to prepare for the campaign. Bryan will address the gathering. The real organization of the State has been undertaken by the Bryan Volunteers. President Mullen

Bryan Volunteers. President Muller of the organization paid his respects to Bryan to-day. He told him he had 600 clubs dy organized and that new members were being added every day.

The Lanc aster county Republican committee, Bryan's home county, met here to-day. The city members reported con-siderable disaffection and disposition to vote for Bryan, but the county members said the farmers were well satisfied with Taft. Twelve years ago when Bryan first ran seventeen members of the Republican county committee of fifty sent in their resignations to the chairman, saying they were for Bryan. This year there were no resignations and the country precincts were nearly all represented.

Mr. Bryan was a guest at dinner to-night with the out of town ne wspaper correspondents at a downtown hotel.

AGAINST HEARST IN BROOKLYN.

Independence League Forces Rallying t the Support of Bryan and Kern.

At some recent gatherings of the Indeendence League forces in Brooklyn there have been strong manifestations of a purpose to support Bryan and Kern and cut away from William R. Hearst in his hostility to the Denver ticket. C. Augustus Haviland, ex-Register Alfred C. Boulton, Robert Stewart, Charles Frederick Adams, Durbin B. Van Vleck, John J. Clancy, Francis X. Carmody, former Congressman Thomas F. Magner, Philip N. Cassidy and many other influential workers in the league, who hitherto have been enthusiastic followers of Hearst, have already declared their purpose to vote for Bryanfand Kern regardless of the action of the Independence League national convention, soon to be held in Chicago.

Off Day for Betting With Lloyd's. Applications for Lloyd's insurance or wager policies on the election were plenty yesterday, but very few transactions were made. The business day in London was over before the opening of the market here and very few London insurance here and very few London insurance brokers remained to transact business with New York brokers or agents. These brokers offered to take small amounts, but only at an advance in the premium from 16 to 20 guineas per cent., or at odds of 3% to 1 against Bryan, as compared with a closing price of 17 guineas, or 5 to 1, on Friday. In most cases applicants preferred to wait until Monday, when better connections will be had with Lloyd's, than to accept the reduced odds offered by the few brokers doing business yesterday.

THIEF LANDED WITH A DERRICK

WAS CAUGHT RIFLING A CABIN ON THE ST. FILLAN

And Couldn't Be Got Ashore Except With Block and Tackle-Thought the Crew of the British Tramp, About to Sail Would Take Him Along, but Was Fooled

Caught robbing the cabin of Second Engineer Harry A. R. Reed of the British tramp steamship St. Fillan of Liverpool, loading with oil at the foot of Tenth street Long Island City, Thomas Devine refused to leave the steamship, declaring that he preferred a life on the rolling deep to a term in jail. He knew that the vessel was booked to sail at noon yesterday for Madras and he went aboard, thinking he might get away with the loot; if he was caught, figured, the crew probably would be satisfied with a return of the property rather than stay ashore to prosecute him.

From the second engineer's cabin he took a heavy gold watch, two gold chains, s handful of small change and several trinkets valued in all at about $175. Just as he was leaving the cabin he ran against Chief Officer James Simmons, who held him up and summoned Engineer Reed.

"'Es a bally thief," said the chief officer "What shall we do with 'im? Give 'im a bit of rope's end an let 'im git or summon the bobbies?" "I think as we'd better turn 'im over to

"Beware, young man," said Devine as Policeman Powers unlimbered his hightstick and cleared for action. "I'm under the protection of the British flag. Don't touch me; international complications might ensue, you know."

Despite the judicious application of the nightstick Devine refused to change his mind about leaving the vessel.

"I tell you," he howled as he hugged the deck. "I'm goin' to sail with this outfit."

"What's the bloomin' row?" inquired Capt. George Hallum, appearing on the scene.

"'E thinks' e's goin' to sail with this outfit, does 'e? Mr. Simmons, rig a line and we'll drop the bloomin' beggar over the side."

A block and tackle was rigged and despite his struggles a half hitch was taken around the thief, a turn on the donkey engine windlass and in the next instant he was spinning around in the air. AFTER CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS. Hackensack Physician Says Committee Will Push Their Fight.

HACKENBACK, N. J., July 18 .- Dr. J. Finlay Bell of Englewood, a member of the committee appointed by President Dr. H. C. Neer of the Bergen County Medical Society to investigate the death a week ago of an infant son of Frank A. Black at Palisade Park while under Christian Science treatment, gave out the following statement when he was told that Mrs. Graphelia M. Jenkins, an aged widow of Hackensack, had died from cancer while under the same treatment: There seems to be something lax some where when Christian Science healers can invade our county with impunity. These healers know nothing of medicine, science, anatomy or anything else that might tend to aid in relieving the sufferings of the sick or even attempting to ours them, get good pay for their attendance upon the sick, and the county authorities seem to pay no attention whatever to the direct violation of the law. It is said that the healers declare they are not practising medicine, and because they do not viciate the law, but we claim that any who is called in to attend the sick and is paid for his services is practising medicine, even though he does not administer drugs nor medicine. This is to me a flimsy subterfuge, and if Prosecutor Koester is inactive because of his belief that the healers cannot be prosecuted because of this technicality then it is up to the people of the State to have the law straightened so as to prevent this illegal practice.

The committee will meet in Mackensack next Monday to confer with Coroner Curry, Prosecutor Koester, Dr. C. Adams, Dr. Van Dike and Coroner Demund, and we will then endeavor to find out just what the law is and where we stand in this all importan

In the case of the baby that died at Palisade Park last Saturday I think some one should be punished for criminal negligence for not securing medical attendance for the little sufferer. If it is not possible to hold the healer for her inability to even relieve the child from suffering it is a very serious proposi-tion, and we purpose investigating the case there to the very bottom.

Combination Offering of PIANOS and PIANOLAS

Here is a genuine opportunity to save money by buying both Piano and Pianola at one time.

We have matched up some very desirable exchanged Pianos and Pianolas and then fixed a specially low lump price upon the combination.

I You understand how we happen to get these exchanged instruments-that they come to us solely because their owners prefer the Pianola Piano. This insures a class of pianos in fine condition and far superior to the exchanged pianos which reach other music stores "in the regular course of business."

He Had Been Sent Out to Guard Against Train Wreckers. BUFFALO, N. Y., July 18.-William Maher BUFFALO, N. Y., July 18.—William Maher, a section man on the Pennsylvania Rall-road, was sent along the road in the dark early this morning to guard against train wreckers who have been placing obstructions on the tracks during the last week. This morning at daybreak Maher's dead body was found beside the tracks mangled and torn. It had been run over by several trains in the night. The Coroner would not take the responsibility of saying the trains killed him.

Former Millionaire Dies in Poverty. MILWAUKER, July 18 .- C. J. I. Meyer, 86

MILWAUKEE, July 18.—C. J. I. Meyer, 86 years old, former millionaire manufacturer of Fond du Lac, Wis., but of late years in reduced circumstances, died to-day in Trinity Hospital of heart trouble. Mr. Meyer a short time ago came to Milwaukee from Chicago, where he had been living with relatives, and applied for admission to the county hospital. This was denied for the reason that he was not a resident of the county. Later his relatives made provision for his care as long as he lived.
